Welcome to ECOC 2026

The European Conference on Optical Communications (ECOC) is Europe's most prestigious event in the field of optical communications, bringing together researchers from academia and industry, as well as business leaders from across the world. The 52nd edition of ECOC will be held in Málaga from September 20 to 24, 2026, at the Palacio de Ferias y Congresos de Málaga (FYCMA).

ECOC is structured into two main components: the Conference, which focuses on the scientific discussion of current and future technologies, and the Exhibition, which highlights the industrial perspective, providing companies and organizations a platform to showcase their latest innovations, products, and services to a highly specialized audience. Sponsorship ensures visibility throughout the two pillars of ECOC, bridging the exchange of ideas at the Conference with the innovation showcased at the Exhibition

Partner with ECOC 2026

ECOC 2026 offers a variety of sponsorship opportunities designed to give your company strong visibility within the optical communications community.

The conference and exhibition bring together professionals from research, academia, and industry, providing an excellent setting to showcase your work and build connections.

Sponsors can increase their presence throughout the event with branding options and by supporting social activities such as receptions, dinners, or coffee breaks.
